Regulatory Compliance Action Steps

The challenges of regulatory compliance became more complex as our clients in the healthcare industry responded to the pandemic. Here are the compliance action steps below that our clients are using to navigate the continuously evolving standards of government regulations toward a successful tomorrow.

Your
COMPLIANCE

Have your compliance and legal counsel review all new COVID-19 related rule modifications.

Modify your tracking, analysis, and reporting processes to keep current with modifications.

Review and revise (if necessary) your disaster response protocols.

Review and revise (if necessary) your ethics policies on resource allocation.

Institute a robust, and separate if possible, tracking system for costs and expenditures related to disaster response.

Review and implement Substance Use Disorder (SUD) confidentiality and disclosure policies to meet Cares Act amendments.

Review EMTALA, HIPAA, and telehealth waivers to ensure compliance.

Add COVID-19 specific telehealth codes into your electronic billing system to ensure proper billing/coding.

Prepare to validate any process or delivery changes your organization has made in response to the crisis.

Create a detailed body of evidence for documentation
